OPEN YOUR MIND TO THE TOTAL TRUTH AND SAVE YOURSELF FROM ANOTHER FOUR YEARS OF FAILURE, FRUSTRATION, GAMBLING AND AVOIDABLE CONFUSION

1) Tinubu is truly our problem because he is the President, and has been given all constitutional authority and powers, to use our mandate to give us democratic dividends by good leadership and governance.

As a Muslim, he is failing because he lacks or has abandoned his identity knowledge and discipline.

Who among the leaders in the opposition is a fair embodiment of his own identity Orientation, from the records of his leadership?

If their respective parties do not present such people, the Ummah must not expect that they can be predictable or give different results.

a) The opposition leaders that are not our problem now, do not know what Tinubu is really facing as the sworn in president. If this was possible, Buhari could have known the real challenges and not complain of empty coffers. And Tinubu of the same party with Buhari did not know the real status of the challenges until he was sworn in.

The manifesto of Buhari did not save Nigerians from state oppression of the polity. The manifesto of Tinubu has not saved us from increasing misery, more financial expenditures and more loans.

How can the manifesto of any opposition leader be reliable a reference?

No Muslim, no Believer, no voter must think or consider any campaign promises as reliable. Tinubu who is failing more cannot be reliable. It will be worse, to do so for the opposition.

b) Tinubu is considered a smart person or a crook. He never claimed to be a saint. Buhari who claimed and was believed to be righteous, set the worst and developed foundation for Tinubu to continue with.

Whatever damages and failures of Tinubu cannot be isolated from the foundation laid by Buhari.

Which of the opposition leaders has the credibility and acceptance of Buhari? Which of the opposition leaders has no smart or crookish credentials according to his leadership opportunity records?

If anyone is diverted by the personal wrongdoings of one leader and not the other, he has been fooled.

It is the responsibility of the parties to present candidates of respectful competitive character.

2) Whoever becomes the President of this country has only the public services, civil and uniformed, to use for actualizing the mandate given to him. The safety and prosperity of all Nigerians, by good leadership and governance.

Buhari did nothing to transform them to be servants of Nigeria. In fact, he did not promise to do so. But it was the main target for identifying corruption and dealing with it. He left it bigger and stronger for targeting.

Tinubu in his turn, has further expanded them and injected tolerance mixed with intolerance, for the political and professional leadership of both. The impact on the citizens is increasing costs, losses of services and our commonwealth respectively, as well as cost of living and oppression.

No opposition, knows, cares or has specifically dared to address this critical challenge, for even promises.

Any voter who misthinks that, the transformational leadership of this country is feasible without a radical attention given to the services, will not be helping our collective interest.

a) What amount and quality of criticisms did the All Progressive Congress fail to seek, find, establish and expound, against the Peoples Democratic Party (ruling party and government), before getting the mandate of Nigerians and through the first term of Buhari?

Of what benefit or value has it been, in making the Buhari or Tinubu Governance Better for Nigerians?

How can whatever criticisms of Tinubu by the opposition, be of any value and benefit to the electorate?

No demonstrations, protests and criticisms in themselves must justify the removal of Tinubu, by poisoning, military coup, coalition, denial of another term.

Any person who believes this as sufficient and acts on it, will definitely get unsatisfactory results.

2) We have had several military interventions that were driven by the philosophy of corrections and withdrawal. They didn't make Nigeria any better. The indicators are handing over to civilians only to take over again and counter coups against each other. The proof is the state President Obasanjo found Nigeria in 1999. General Abubakar the military democrat who handed over, appealed to him not to listen to distractors, that may raise issues of money laundering and corruption by the leadership.

Military leadership has proven to be more questionable for acceptance now.

Between 1999 to date, the civilian political leaderships we have consistently experienced have been a disaster. Even the fools who express that the worst civilian democracy is better than the best military leadership will put their heads down.

The colours of Muslim/Christian, Muslim/Muslim, Christian/Muslim, North/South or South/North have remained the colours they really are, and have not added any value to our safety and prosperity.

Anyone who believes that simply because another set of civilians will be elected to replace or succeed the present one, there is hope, is still unconscious.

3) Some of our elections have been reported to have been heavily affected by rigging, and therefore not credible. This evidenced by the records of legal challenges to the results. The best examples are the one of Buhari against Goodluck Jonathan, and Atiku as well as Peter against Tinubu.

But as much as the governance of Goodluck and Tinubu are painful, does not tell all the story. The simple reason is that the defence only tactfully always ignored the traces of rigging by the losers, to focus on its declared win.

3) Some of the elections have been more accepted and less resisted. The experiences of Obasanjo and Buhari were good examples.

But neither the ones that were challenged nor the ones that were condoned gave good governance. Some Senators had cause to say Obasanjo is the father of corruption, just like Buhari revealed that Obasanjo spent billions for light but left Nigeria in darkness. In the case of Buhari, he lost faith and was asking his lieutenants if the funds they were asking him to approve for them, will be utilized as such, with the fear of Allah. And after leaving office, he intervened for his men who were established as thieves, with Tinubu.

As for Goodluck, he got so bad that, anything but him as our leader, was preferred. In the case of Tinubu, it is enough and no more can be taken.

The electoral process has therefore only passed the shit to the judiciary when the candidates register their disagreements.

From our experiences, neither the electoral process nor the judicial resolutions have given the electorate the right leadership.

For anyone to harp and lean on electoral reviews and judicial reforms, to help or guarantee a leadership that will give us safety and prosperity governance, it will be a mistake and misleading.

3) Records of personal gestures to traditional leaders, religious leaders, individuals, groups, organizations, by opposition have not made governance better. Good givers are like Tinubu, Peter and Atiku.

Government palliatives in their different forms and types have not made any difference either.

Thus, gifts are wools over the eyes of the electorate, regardless of when and how they are given, and especially before elections, whether to party members, delegates or citizens.

The responsibilities of governance must neither be opportunities for the leaders, nor favours to the electorate.

Anyone who uses any receipts as a measure of prospective good governance has missed it.

5) It is impossible to expect influencing the present course without a general REORIENTATION EDUCATION. It will require reading some books, freely available on the website, within six weeks and sharing the ideas to work on, TO SAVE THE NEXT ELECTIONS AND LEADERSHIP FROM BEING OPPRESSIVE. Just READING and SHARING.
